

Title X in Mississippi Improving Public Health and Saving Taxpayer Dollars

Between FY2010 - FY2013, funding for Title X was cut by $39.2 million— 12.3% in three fiscal years.

Title X Served 55,476 Mississippi Residents in 2013

The Mississippi State Department of Health is the sole Title X grantee in Mississippi, supporting 97 Title X-funded health centers across the state. The Title X network served 54,800 women and 676 men, for a total of 55,476 residents of Mississippi in 2013.

Title X provides high-quality family planning services and other preventive health care to low-income and uninsured individuals who may otherwise lack access to health care.

- Of the 55,476 patients served, 92% had incomes at or below 100% of the federal poverty level (FPL), meaning they earned $11,490 a year or less.ⁱⁱⁱ
- > One hundred percent of Title X patients in Mississippi earned less than $28,725 a year (250% of the FPL).iv

Title X Saves Mississippi Residents' Taxpayer Dollars

Title X supports critical infrastructure needs that are not reimbursable under Medicaid and commercial insurance, such as staff salaries, individual patient education, community-level outreach, and public education about family planning, women's health, and sexual health issues. Without Title X, access to high-quality family planning services for low-income Mississippi residents would not be possible.

- The average cost of a Medicaid-funded birth is $12,613. In 2008, births resulting from unintended pregnancies cost Mississippi's taxpayers $145 million. VI
- The Title X program helps alleviate these costs by preventing unintended pregnancy through contraception, counseling, and other services.

Title X is Essential to Improving Public Health and Saving Taxpayer Dollars in Mississippi

Cutting funding for family planning services will lead to more unintended pregnancies and higher health care costs in Mississippi. Family planning helps women and families plan the timing and spacing of their pregnancies, which results in better educational attainment and economic security; these, in turn, are linked to better health outcomes for women and families.

- > Family planning services at Mississippi's Title X-funded health centers helped prevent 14,800 unintended pregnancies in 2012, which would likely have resulted in 7,300 unintended births and 5,000 abortions.viii
- Without publicly funded family planning, the number of unintended pregnancies in Mississippi would be 31% higher.ix
- Title X-funded services produce significant cost savings to the federal and state governments; services provided at Title Xsupported sites in Mississippi accounted for $47.4 million in such savings in 2010 alone.x

Mississippi's Title X-funded health centers provide a wide range of services:

- Pregnancy testing
- Contraceptive services
- Pelvic exams
- Screening for cervical and breast cancer
- Screening for high blood pressure, anemia, and diabetes
- Screening for STDs and HIV/AIDS
- Infertility services
- Health education
- Referrals for other health and social services

Additional cuts to Title X funding—especially in the current economy—would harm tens of thousands of low-income and poor families throughout Mississippi, in turn costing,

not saving, the federal government money.
