I understand. The law says that you cannot be denied coverage because of your age or for pre-existing conditions or your gender. The benefits of getting covered include free preventative services such as birth control, pap tests and vaccinations, including the flu and Hepatitis A and B.

Having health insurance is important so you can see the doctors you want for the health care you need at a reasonable price. If you or someone in your family gets sick, you want to have the best care possible without worrying about being able to afford it. The sooner you get answers the sooner your coverage will start.
