Title X saw an increase in funding under Republican presidents.

Between 1985 and 2010, cuts to Title X totaled $13.9 million. However, over just the last five years, Title X funding has been slashed by $39.2 million. Not since 1981–1983 has the program experienced cuts like this.

Title X funding rose between 2004 and 2007, even with a Republican President and Congress.

Under President Bush, Title X funding increased (except 2006).

With a Democratic president and Republican Congress, the program experienced funding increases.

The History of Title X Funding

*Reflects funding level after across the board recission

Obama signed into law, but increase originally designated by Congress under Bush

Reflects sequestration